Eisenhower Press Secretary Declines To Disclose Outcome Of Conversation

Californian Mum After 20-Minute Phone Talk

From Press Dispatches

PORTLAND, Ore.—Sen. Richard Nixon's press secretary told newsmen Sunday night not to expect any major developments on the question of Nixon's remaining on the Republican presidential ticket.

The secretary, James Basset, gave that information after Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican candidate for president, telephoned his running mate from St. Louis and talked to him for 20 minutes.

Basset was asked whether any decision had been made on retaining the young California senator as Eisenhower's running mate.

"I'll just not have to answer that," Basset replied.

No Answer Given

He said Nixon had authorized him to say only that the general had made the first call to him since the political storm broke over Nixon's $18,000 expense fund.

He was asked if, as a result of the conversation, Nixon felt any different.

"I can't answer that," Basset said.

Nixon was reported "fighting mad" over criticism of his expense fund and determined not to step aside.

Nobody in Nixon's camp knew how he could be forced off the ticket.

Works On Strategy

An official said Nixon is "working on the proper strategy to meet the continuous misrepresentation

Sen. Nixon Sunday night promised to make public today a full accounting of his personal finances. (Story on Page 7.)

of the fund and the attendant smear and in due course will make any further report needed on the subject."

The atmosphere at Nixon's hotel headquarters is one of vexation at the delay by Eisenhower in coming out flatly for Nixon on this issue.

They feel that the Smith accounting of the $18,000 contribution had made it clear that the money went for political expenses and not for the personal use of Nixon.

Crowds Are Favorable

Nixon's advisers believe there are two other circumstances which should convince Eisenhower that Nixon has and can continue to meet the expense fund issue.

First, crowds have received extremely favorably the senator's explanation that the fund was used for political mailing and traveling expenses and that he did not, as is the custom with many legislators, charge these expenses up to the taxpayers.

The second is the telegraphic support that Nixon has received. His aides said that Nixon found more than 500 telegrams on his breakfast tray Saturday morning, advising him to stay in the race, fight the "smear" and continue to go after "crooks and Communists" in the Truman administration.

Sen. Nixon and his wife slipped away from the confusion Sunday to attend services at the First Friends Church in Portland.

ROSEVILLE, Calif. (AP)—The Rev. William C. MacMurtrei, who is accused of swindling an aged couple out of their life savings of $22,408, was fired Sunday as pastor of the Roseville Presbyterian Church.

Car Thief Has Yen For 1942 Models

A car thief with an apparent yen for 1942 model Ford coaches seemed to be operating over the week end.

Clifford Nelson of 4105 So. 48th early Sunday morning reported his 1942 model missing. Later Sunday it was found in Hamburg, Ia., where police reported another car of the same year and make had been stolen.

Police described the driver as about 18 years old, wearing a brown jacket and blue jeans.

Fremont Woman Dies From Polio

OMAHA (AP)—Mrs. Irene Hansen, 32, Fremont, died Sunday in an Omaha hospital of polio. She was the state's 69th known polio death of the year.

Mrs. Jane Johnson, 32, Ralston, was among the new polio patients at Douglas County Hospital. Three of her four children previously were stricken with the disease and are at Childrens Memorial Hospital.

Other new cases included Miss Lois Heniger, 21, a teacher at Bellevue, Neb., and Robert Steinfeld, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Steinfeld, Omaha.

Takes Own Life

MITCHELL, Neb. (AP)—Frank Reed, about 60, Mitchell attorney, took his own life with a .22 caliber slug from a rifle, County Attorney C. Sheldon said Sunday.

Reed was found dead Sunday morning by a friend, Phil Grant. Mrs. Reed was out of town.

Cut In Steel May Hurt Auditorium, School Plans

Lincoln's plans for a new city auditorium and expansion of public school facilities suffered a setback Sunday with the announcement that the government will cut steel allotment for such construction.

The Defense Production Administration ruled that steel supplies will be sharply reduced for school construction and other non-defense building to speed work on a new atomic energy plant in Ohio.

The action was taken in passing out steel allotments for all types of industrial operations in the first three months of 1953, according to the Associated Press.

As a result of the ruling, Mayor Victor Anderson said construction of the new auditorium may be delayed indefinitely. He explained that steel allotments have not yet been made for the building.

The school construction picture appeared less bleak, according to Superintendent of Schools Steven Watkins.

Delayed Unlikely

Watkins doubted whether construction of schools would be delayed "unless the DPA is holding back on steel allotments already made."

The superintendent said allotments under contract in addition to Sheridan and Riley schools which will be up for letting Oct. 10.

The auditorium situation, as explained by Mayor Anderson, is this:

Several months ago, applications for estimated steel needs were returned with the request for exact amounts of steel and copper. Because the bond issue had not been voted yet, it was impossible to stipulate exact amounts and the applications were withdrawn.

Figures Ready In Two Weeks

Following defeat of the bond issue, which made construction along original plans impossible, architects began drawing new plans. Figures on amounts of steel and copper should be ready within two weeks, the mayor said. Until available, application cannot be made.

Mayor Anderson said he did not know definitely whether the ruling would delay construction.

Superintendent Watkins also pointed out that allotments have not yet been made for South East Junior and Senior High Schools, although applications have been sent in.

The government order, generally, will permit production of automobiles, washing machines and other civilian products to continue at or near present levels. No increase will be allowed because of after-effects of the nation-wide steel strike.

No Explanation Is Offered For 3-Day Delay

From Press Dispatches

ST. LOUIS—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower talked by telephone Sunday night with Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, but aids declined to say what were the results of the conversation.

Press Secretary James Hagerty announced that the Republican presidential nominee had reached Nixon by telephone from his campaign train here about midnight (EST).

Nixon, at the time, was in a hotel in Portland, Ore., where he had said earlier in the day he would make public "a complete statement of my entire financial history."

Because of disclosures that Nixon had received $18,235 in an expense fund beyond his salary and senatorial allowances, Eisenhower is known to have said that his vice presidential running mate must come "clean as a hound's tooth" if he expected to remain on the ticket.

First Direct Talk

Although Eisenhower has known of these revelations for nearly three days and his aids have talked to Nixon, Sunday night's telephone call was the first time he had communicated directly with the vice presidential nominee.

Hagerty declined to answer any questions about the nature of the talk between the two Republican candidates.

The press secretary said he "couldn't say" why the call had not been placed before. Eisenhower had spent all of Sunday in St. Louis, attending church in the morning and joining Willard Cox, a personal friend, at dinner.

MUM ON DECISION

Hagerty declined to say whether any decision had been reached by Eisenhower on retaining Nixon on the ticket.

About all he would say was that the general himself had placed the call.

"I will let you know when there are any developments," Hagerty said.

Hagerty told a news conference earlier that Eisenhower had not accepted as final any accounting of the fund which Nixon accepted from a group of prominent California citizens.

"Or Else"

It was learned on the highest authority that Eisenhower expects Nixon to show that his conduct in the matter is completely above reproach—"or else."

One of the general's top aids, Sen. Seaton (R-Neb.), earlier called Nixon for Eisenhower and discussed the conversation with the Republican presidential nominee afterwards.

Eisenhower spokesmen refused to disclose what was said in this phone call to Nixon at Portland, Ore., or to reveal whether Sen. Seaton relayed a message from the general.

Hagerty told newsmen from Eisenhower's campaign train, lying over in St. Louis, that the general has received some 400 telegrams from all over the country on the Nixon affair.

He said the wires, many from Republican leaders, are running "about half and half" on whether Nixon should be dropped or retained as the party's vice presidential candidate.

Declines to Answer

The general is known to feel that it will be "bad" if any of the expense money was used by Nixon for personal matters.

The breakdown given out Saturday by the trustee of the fund showed all of the money had been spent for items of a non-personal nature such as printing, postage and similar items.

Asked whether this accounting was considered satisfactory by Eisenhower, Hagerty replied:

"That's one I'm not going to answer."

He said the possibility of Nixon's flying in from the west coast for a talk with Ike, known to be under consideration earlier, has not been discussed further.

Ike Plans Coast Trip

Meanwhile, it was announced that Eisenhower will carry his campaign to the west coast early in October.

The general will leave New York City by train Sept. 30, three days after winding up his current whistle-stop tour, and head across country for Washington state, making several midwestern stops enroute. Eisenhower will spend four days on the west coast, starting with a swing through Washington Oct. 6.

Eisenhower's second whistle-stop tour will begin in Michigan Oct. 1 and carry him through Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota in the next three days.

—Manhunt Ends— 3 Dead In A Blazing Gun Fight

Escaped Convicts And N.Y. Detective Killed

NEW YORK (AP)—Police trapped three bank robbing escaped convicts early Sunday, killing two of them in a blazing gun battle that cost the life of one detective and seriously wounded another. The third desperado was captured unhurt.

A hail of pistol and machine-gun bullets ended the careers of two of the bad men from Harlem County, Ky., Joseph Nolan, 26, and his brother, Ballard, 22. Captured was Elmer Schuer, 21, of Chicago.

Police said Schuer admitted the three robbed a Bronx gun store last Monday of a dozen weapons and on the following day looted a Bronx bank of $12,670 in a daring daylight holdup.

Escaped Sept. 10

The desperadoes had been the object of one of the East's biggest manhunts since they escaped Sept. 10 from the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison, where they were serving long terms for bank robbery.

The three had stabbed and kidnapped their way to freedom, terrorizing the Pennsylvania countryside on their flight to New York.

They were surprised in a tryst with three Negro women when police stormed their seventh-floor apartment in upper Manhattan shortly after midnight. One of the Nolan brothers, partly clad, and Schuer were in a bedroom with one of the women when police broke down a door.

Police Close In

Thirty-one detectives and patrolmen converged on the four-room apartment on a tip the trio was holed up there. They found the place barricaded and were met with a burst of gunfire as they broke down a door.

One of the desperadoes used a machine gun in the brief, terrible battle.

When the smoke had cleared, the Nolans lay dead on the floor. Detectives Philip Lamonia, 45, and Nicholas Cotter were wounded. Lamonia died a short time later in a hospital. He had been shot three times in the chest.

Police said one of the Nolans had been shot at least 50 times.

C. P. Jackman

Rites Tuesday;

Crash Victim

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at St. Mary's Cathedral for Charles P. Jackman, 35, of 1510 So. 23rd, who died following an automobile accident near Lincoln.

Mrs. C. J. Riordan will officiate at the services and burial will be at Calvary.

The Safety Patrol reported the Jackman car was involved in a head-on collision with a car driven by Gaylon Freeman, 23, of 3135 So. 44th.

Freeman, who suffered facial cuts, a possible broken jaw, cuts about the head and bruises and abrasions, was listed in "fair" condition Sunday night at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Mr. Jackman, an architectural draftsman, was a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University and had attended the University of Nebraska, A World War II veteran, he was a member of St. Mary's Cathedral parish.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Pearl Jackman of Lincoln and two grandmothers, Mrs. Mary Williams of Lincoln and Mrs. Frances Jackman of Tulsa, Okla.

Chinese Reds Badly Hurt, Solons Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional committee has returned from Korea convinced that the stalemate war is costing the Chinese Communists heavily and is profiting the Allies, one of its members said Sunday.

This view was expressed by Rep. Fisher (D-Tex.), acting chairman of a House Armed Services Sub-committee which toured front-line positions during an inspection of American installations throughout the Pacific.

Fisher told a reporter the consensus of the 10-member group was that the present stable battle line permitted the Allies to inflict maximum strain on the Communists at minimum cost.

He said committee members also agreed generally that Chinese Nationalist troops should be sent to Korea and, with South Koreans, should eventually replace Americans at the front.

The group visited Formosa and learned that at least two well-trained Nationalist divisions are available now for Korean duty, Fisher said.

The committee, in a forthcoming report, may recommend the use of Nationalist forces and may include other proposals, Fisher said.

Nixon Case Effect:

State's GOP Caravaners Not Worried

'Tempest In A Teapot,' 'Smeared,' Say Candidates

The state's GOP caravaning campaign will start out their state-wide tour Monday morning under no blue cloud because of Sen. Richard Nixon's reported $18,000 private expense fund.

Meeting at the Cornhusker Hotel Sunday night, the caravaners discussed details of the tour that will stop at 40 Nebraska towns.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Robert Crosby and Clarence Beck, who is seeking reelection as state attorney general, emphatically denied that the Nixon affair will have any effect on their tour.

"Now that all of the facts on Nixon's income have been reported by the press," Crosby said, "it is altogether likely nothing at all wrong has been done by Senator Nixon or anyone else."

Crosby declared, "This is only a clumsy effort by some people to smear our vice-presidential candidate."

Last Friday, in answering a question after a speech here, Crosby had said of the Nixon fund report: "If its true its inexcusable."

Attorney General Beck said, "If (Nixon) has violated the law, he should be prosecuted. If he has not, let's forget it. He called the affair 'a tempest in a teapot.'"

Crosby was feeling confident on the eve of the GOP caravan. "I am very, very much encouraged," he said, "as it seems to me public support is becoming stronger every day for the Republican position."

The GOP candidates will launch their caravan from the Cornhusker hotel at 8:30 a.m. Monday. First appearances will be at Ashland, Wahoo, Fremont, Schuyler, David City and Columbus.

Meeting for last minute details were:

Senator Hugh Butler
Rep. Robert Harrison
Senatorial candidate Dwight Griswold
Gubernatorial candidate Robert Crosby
Frank Marsh, candidate for secretary of state

Charles Warner, lieutenant governor
Frank Heinze, state treasurer
Mrs. Frank Heinze
Ray Johnson, state auditor
Marlin, state GOP chairman

State Attorney General Clarence Beck
Mrs. Arthur Downing, vice chairman of the Republican state central committee.
Mrs. Edna Basten Donald, national commitwoman.

Charles Thone, at leave from his state office without pay, will accompany Senatorial candidate Dwight Griswold.

Thone said he will go in no capacity under Griswold but might make a few speeches.

Reserve Officers In Army To Be Offered New Indefinite Terms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Appointments for indefinite terms will soon be offered to all Army reserve officers and warrant officers not on active duty, Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr., announced Sunday.

The men's option is to take the commissions on that basis or get out of the reserve.

Heretofore the appointments have been for five-year terms. The Reserve Act passed by the last Congress specified that the new term should be indefinite.

The Navy, Marines and National Guard already are on that basis. The Air Force also is changing over.

Affected by the Army shift are some 250,000 officers and warrant officers of the Army Reserve.

Nebraska Tavernmen Pass Strict Test

Your neighbor, who has obtained a beer license, has measured up to the strict qualifications of a citizen and a businessman.

He has passed tests for character, reputation, good citizenship, local residence, and suitable tavern location. He has an established record for law obedience and financial responsibility.

His application has been approved by your local government after notice was published, and citizens given an opportunity to challenge his fitness.

Not only has he proved his worthiness, but he voluntarily cooperates with the brewing industry's education program in Nebraska—a program aimed at producing high levels of tavern operation in the public interest.

AG DEPARTMENT OKAY:

Most American Farmers Favor Complete Parity

WASHINGTON (INS)—The majority of American Farmers favor 100 per cent parity, and approve of the Agriculture Department's agencies, policies, and programs.

This was the gist of a statement by the Family Policy Review Subcommittee which spent several months pouring over individual questionnaires and reports from local farm groups and discussing agricultural affairs.

The digest prepared by the subcommittee said an overwhelming preponderance of the farmers were in favor of complete insurance against sudden price drops rather than the 90 per cent parity now in force on most crops.

Parity is the calculated "fair" price as related to current farm income and expenses.

The controversial report by the review board, criticized by the American Farm Bureau even before it appeared, said the farmers suggested other changes including expansion of the information and educational services, easier farm credit, a continual review of farm policy and a statement of policy on family farms.

Time after time, in their appraisal of the individual agencies in the Agriculture Department, the board reported general approval of the policies and general administration of the agency.

There was some disagreement among the farmers as to the value of some policies, but this appeared to be minor in almost every instance.

In many cases where the farmers had made a specific recommendation that action was needed in the department, Agriculture Secretary Brannan had taken the action before the digest review was released.

The report said many farm groups went out of their way to comment on the department as a whole, expressing general or implied approval.

A few counties, however, proposed that congress should legislate any changes and expressed opposition to 'regimentation,' 'dictatorial,' 'meddlesome,' or 'socialistic' programs for farmers. The board itself made no comment on this.

Federal Agencies Loaned Heavily To U.S. Farmers Last Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government announced that farmers borrowed almost two and one-half billion dollars from federal credit lending agencies during the past fiscal year.

This was an increase of 231 million dollars or 10.7 per cent over the loans extended by the land banks, the purchasing credit administration, and banks for co-operatives during fiscal year 1951 ending June 30, 1951.

At the end of the fiscal year last June 30 the farm credit institutions had 3 billion 118 million dollars worth of loans outstanding, including 805 millions of intermediate credit bank loans and discounts for the direct-loan banks.

This increase of 318 million dollars or 11 per cent over last year was shared by all lending institutions.

In a speech before the Farm Credit Administration directors' conference at Spokane, Wash., governor I. W. Duggan of the FCA released the figures on federal lending activities during the year.

He said farmers obtained 41,500 loans worth 237 million dollars from the federal land banks which make long term mortgage loans.

This increase of 2.8 per cent in number and 15.2 per cent in amount over fiscal 1951 represents only 178 million dollars in new loan money.

Duggan said that banks showed an increase in the amount of loans outstanding over the previous year-end. As of June 30, 1952, farmers had nearly 311,000 land bank loans outstanding for $1,046,000,000—an increase of 7.4 per cent compared with 1951.

Military Effort Will Be Prolonged, France Told

MEANUX, France (AP)—Defense Minister Rene Pleven, speaking at ceremonies commemorating the 1914 Battle of the Marne here Sunday, warned Frenchmen the country would have to make a prolonged military effort which would absorb much of the national revenue.

"We must guard against all illusions," he told them. "No policy, no invention of a new weapon can save a country which has a geographic situation such as ours from a prolonged military effort which will absorb each year a large part of the national revenue."

This was pointed out recently by H. G. Zavoroff of the University of Minnesota who said that the use of the milk also offers new problems of sanitation.

School's Building Permit Fee Issue Still Unsettled

The city and Board of Education reviewed the problem of school board building permit fee payments with the board being practically assured of being relieved of at least a portion of the fee payment.

Commenting on the meeting, Mayor Victor E. Anderson said Building Inspector Ed Vorhees has been requested to prepare an estimate of the city's cost in inspecting school constructions.

Anderson indicated that the city would then bill the school board for just what it cost to make the inspections, not the usual full amount of the fee.

However, the mayor said, the school board even has some doubts if it can legally pay anything for the inspections. It may be, Anderson said, that the issue will have to be settled with a friendly suit in court.

Rev. Ukema Is Installed At Westminster

Rev. Calvin Harding Ukema, 3103 So. 16th, formerly of Pontiac, Mich., was installed Sunday night as associate pastor of Westminster Church at the church.

Moderator of the Nebraska City Presbytery Rex Knowles was in charge of the service.

In his sermon, Rev. Ward Conklin said, "Westminster Church is making its ministry more efficient with a new building, but even more important is the addition to its staff."

The Church of Christ, he said, must sense its openings and seize opportunities to really be the church. The church, Rev. Conklin added, must be committed to the task which is the concern always for people.

Rev. John Douglas Clyde presented the charge to the minister and Rev. George S. Bancroft of Omaha, synod executive of Nebraska gave the charge to the congregation.

Miss Peggy Pray, director of Christian education at Westminster, read the scripture lesson.

Rev. Ukema succeeds the late Dr. Paul Turner in the Lincoln church. The 31-year-old minister has served as pastor at Pontiac and Itasca, Mich.

Ordained into the ministry in 1945, Rev. Ukema had graduated from the University of Dubuque, Ia., and had received a divinity degree from McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago.

He has a wife, Betty, and two sons, Peter Winn, 2, and Jay William, 5.

Mrs. J. E. Taylor, Alvo, Dies Sunday

Mrs. Shasta E. Taylor, 63, a lifelong resident of the Alvo community, died at her farm home near there Sunday.

Born on a farm near Alvo, she married James Edwin Taylor on Jan. 1, 1913.

Surviving, besides her husband, are three daughters, Mrs. Alice Yanak, Onawa, Iowa, Mrs. Ruby Heiers, Rt. 3, Lincoln, Mrs. Anna Lucille Starkey, Lincoln; a son, Howard A., Lincoln; three sisters, Mrs. Amy Elder, Mankato, Kan., Mrs. Ella M. Kitzel, Alvo, and Mrs. Olive Friend, Greenwood; a brother, Roscoe Bird, Eagle, Neb.; and five grandchildren.

WHEAT PLANTING IN FULL SWING

The seeding of winter wheat for the 1953 crop has about reached the half-way mark in Nebraska, according to the word from various counties.

This is how the winter wheat picture looks today:

Soil Conditions: Good in eastern portions. Soil at the surface is generally too dry in the western two-thirds of the state, except for local areas that received moisture during recent weeks.

Moisture: Needed generally throughout Nebraska. Most critical need for rain is arising in western areas.

Seed Conditions: Scattered county reports indicate that some newly seeded wheat is dying because of insufficient moisture. Some damage has been reported from blowing.

No Competition

The four items leading the list of imports of farm commodities in 1951 were all non-competitive with American agriculture. They were coffee, rubber, wool and sugar.

It isn't easy to ignore Yugoslavia's army—Western Europe's largest—or Yugoslavia's communist government once you cross the border and enter Marshall Tito's domain.

If you can close eyes to the uniformed men occupying streets, you merely will see red stars or banners praising Marshall Tito or picture of him. Even cigarette contain the words: Peoples Republic of Yugoslavia.

Strangely, however, this communist country which dared to withdraw from under the Kremlin's heavy thumb, is comparatively pleasant for the average tourist.

Hotel rates and meals are uniform; they are government owned. Most tourists travel under guidance of Putnik, official government tourist bureau, which reserves the best hotel in each town for its guests. It was this bureau which helped convince this writer that the "efficiency" of communist government is no substitute for the capitalist country.

In both Zagreb, capital of Croatia (one of Yugoslavia's six republics), and Belgrade, the cities this writer along with a friend from West Virginia visited, Putnik operated two offices—one for foreign travelers; one for Yugoslav travelers.

Only one handled railroad tickets. If you sought simply a time table, you must travel to the next office and wait in line. So far the communist government has not housed the two in the same building.

Although offices in both cities were supposed to know of this writer's travel schedule, the coordination between them was so poor that neither knew what the other was doing.

Although the nation is generally a country of pedestrians or horse drawn carts, somehow government offices usually had automobile transportation. This writer was escorted around Zagreb in a 1952 American model convertible. The driver's honking at every corner to warn pedestrians caused near deafness; stares of pedestrians were somewhat embarrassing. Obviously they were unaccustomed to such vehicles.

Visit to cooperative farms, Zagreb's new machine-tool factory, and a village near Zagreb, convinced this writer that despite poverty and hard times, progress was being made and the people are extremely proud of it.

This is a country in which every one seems to work. After work, about 7:30 p.m., and during noon hours (12:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. when stores are closed), many participate in voluntary labor groups. These look like enthusiastic workers even though there is some question as to voluntary status. Even the women took part in the back breaking process of crushing stone, hauling dirt and digging trenches.

By questioning various Yugoslav journalists, this writer learned that Yugoslavia "has freedom of the press." This definition, however, does not include privilege of criticizing Marshall Tito or the basic government philosophy. There is no room for an opposition party, this writer was told, because of "the threat of Russia."

Communist country recreation was similar to capitalist recreation. The Yugoslavs like outdoor cafes and dancing, and the national dances are colorful and gay. Here, as in most European countries, American music—played by Yugoslav musicians—provides most dance music.

Senate Becoming Rich Man's Club, Sen. Morse Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Morse (R-Ore.) said Sunday night that something has got to be done in this country "about political financing" because "too many politicians aren't free men."

Appearing on a television interview CBS "Man of the Week," Morse indicated he was not talking about Sen. Richard Nixon of California, the Republican vice presidential nominee whose trustee fund has raised a furor in the current campaign.

"It is too early to jump to a conclusion until we have all the facts in the case," Morse said, adding that Nixon did nothing dishonest although he may have made a personal mistake.

Morse said the Senate is "rapidly becoming a rich man's club" and that the only way he himself broke even was to make from $600 to $700 a month on lectures.

The Oregon senator added that he felt it an obligation not to take advantage of his position and that he limited his lectures to only enough to keep out of the red.

Eugene Thompson, 20, of 2917 No. 43rd received abrasions on his right leg and minor cuts and bruises Saturday afternoon when the motorcycle he was riding was in a collision with a car driven by Matt F. Wagner, 35, of Bigenow, Kan.

Local PO Employees Hold Annual Picnic

The annual picnic of the local postal employees was attended by more than 120 employees and their families who entered game contests, played ball, horseshoe and croquet at Pioneers Park Sunday afternoon.

After the contests of balloon kicking, rolling pin event, slipper kicking and running, the group retired to their picnic suppers.

Pop and ice cream were supplied by the sponsoring groups. Sponsors were the carriers, the clerk's, the supervisory and the custodial and mail handling organizations.

The picnic had previously been cancelled in June because of rain.

National Urban League Official Here For Meet

Nelson C. Jackson of New York, director of community services for the National Urban League, will arrive Monday in Lincoln for conferences with local officials on race relations.

Highlight of Jackson's visit will be a conference on housing plans for minority groups in connection with the reactivation of the Lincoln Air Base.

W. H. Burton of Lincoln, chairman of the Lincoln Urban League's housing committee, said he would join Jackson during an initial meeting with Max Kier, chairman of the City Council's air base coordinating committee, scheduled for 2 p.m., Monday, in Kier's office.

Also present will be Dale C. Weeks, another Urban League housing committee member, and Mrs. Sarah Walker, acting director of the Urban League.

The Monday meeting, Urban League officials emphasized, is to be but one to be held early this week with groups in Lincoln to acquaint Jackson with the matter of race relations in Lincoln.

Jackson, a former university professor, will be acquainted with the problem of housing for minority groups in connection with the evacuation of 36 units by Nov. 1 at the Lincoln Air Base in connection with the field's reactivation.

'52 Crime Will Hit An All-Time High, FBI Head Hoover Says

Teen-Agers' Violations Increasing

WASHINGTON (INS)—FBI Director Hoover said Sunday the national crime rate is churning toward a new all-time high of two million major acts of violence in 1952 with a strong accent on youthful offenders.

Hoover said that during the first half of the year a sharp increase in the number of teen-age violators sent the crime record spiraling to an estimated 1,022,200 cases.

Estimating the overall increase at 6.4 per cent, Hoover said he considered his figures conservative, since they include only the more serious crimes.

The FBI chief said there were major increases from 1951 rates in every type of offense except rape. At the current rate, he calculated a 1952 crime record of more than two million cases. These cases do not include arson, embezzlement, carrying concealed weapons, and other crimes which are not considered major offenses.

6,430 Murders
Murderers rolled up a grim toll of 6,430 victims including 64 police officers. More than 50,000 other persons were victims of serious assaults.

The age of the major share of offenders dropped from last year's 23-year-olds to 18. The accent on youth in crime also fell into other categories.

Hoover said that during the first half of 1952, persons less than 21 years of age represented over 30 per cent of the 95,600 persons arrested for crimes against property, and persons under 25 represented about half of all those arrested in this class.

The FBI chief said crime raced along with a larceny for every 26 seconds of the day, one auto theft every 2.45 minutes and a murder, manslaughter, rape or assault to kill every 4.6 minutes.

Study Of Street, Factory Noises Opens In Italy

SAN REMO, Italy (AP)—Industrial leaders and city officials from Europe, America and Japan will convene here Monday to study street and factory noises and how to get rid of them.

Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co. of Detroit, and Fred I. Kent of New York, banker and president of the Council of New York University, are among the business and industrial leaders expected.

World Tour Reveals 'Greatest Opportunity' For West's Ways

Everywhere people have lost faith in that which they had faith before. Now is the time of the greatest opportunity for Christianity and democracy—or Communism.

This was the chief impression of the Rev. C. E. A. McKim, pastor of the Lincoln Tabernacle Christian Church, who returned Saturday from a 68-day trip during which he circled the globe and visited five of the six continents.

People have lost faith in kings and empires, the minister said. The peoples of India have lost faith in the caste system and the old religions. "They are looking for new leadership," he said.

Egyptians have lost faith in their former leader, who betrayed them. In Arabia the great temples of Mohammedism, built for five to ten thousand persons are attended by mere handfuls.

They are looking for a government and religion of the common man, Rev. McKim said in effect. "It could be either Christianity and democracy or Communism,

Sanitary District Board Told Flood Control Bond Issue 'Dim'

The Board of Sanitary District 1 has been advised that prospects are very dim for approval of a bond issue at this time for major flood control improvements.

Making that assertion was J. G. W. Lewis, director of research, Governmental Research Institute. He told the board that it should also wait before entering into a long range program until the plans of all outside groups are known.

Under questioning from Board Member Roger Bergquist, Lewis agreed he meant the Salt-Wahoo Watershed Association when he spoke of "outside groups."

Bergquist reminded Lewis that the Board was being asked to wait for something that is still in the planning stage and depending upon an appropriation from Congress on which "we as Republicans think differently."

Coordinated Plans
Lewis maintained that he did not intend for the Board to delegate any of its authority to the Association but that the plans of the District and Association

AF Blue Becoming Favorite Color On University Campus

The University of Nebraska's school colors, scarlet and cream, are in danger of losing their position as the campus favorite.

Air Force blue apparently is the onrushing competitor.

This semester 1,005 men students, who are assigned to Air Force training at the University, are wearing the Air Force's official uniform. Previously, only advanced air students were allowed to wear the uniform.

The new uniforms have been issued to freshmen and sophomore students by the Air Force on a loan basis, according to Lt. Col. Alex C. Jamieson, professor of air science and tactics.

Advanced students who qualify for their commissions are allowed to keep their uniforms which cost about $100 per student.

27th Anniversary Of St. Matthew's Church Observed

Members of St. Matthew's Episcopal church were urged Sunday "to take their religion very seriously in a personal way and to be faithful to their church" by the Rev. William Paul Barnard during services commemorating the 27th anniversary of the laying of the church cornerstone.

Rev. Barnard, who recently returned from the general convention in Boston, told members it was a "privilege to be a Christian and a member of this church."

He stressed the importance of being a "friendly church—one that welcomes visitors."

The need for continued emphasis on religious education was also brought out by the pastor who has served the church since 1935.

A coffee hour followed the services with Mrs. Raymond Walker and Mrs. Lester Foigt furnishing birthday cakes. Hosts and hostesses were Mrs. L. L. Smith, Mrs. W. E. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnston.

Communist Prisoner Is Found Hanging In Camp

PUSAN, Korea (Monday) (AP)—The U. N. Prisoner of War Command today said the body of a Communist prisoner was found hanging by the neck in a Cheju Island camp yesterday and called the death "apparently a suicide."

It was the third case of the kind in recent weeks.

The island is 50 miles off the southern tip of Korea.

In other action the Board authorized the preparation of plans and specifications for construction of a new sanitary sewer along Highway 6 from 44th to 49th. The district was requested by property owners involved.

The Board also authorized the sale at public auction of a house at 2025 N. 14th. The property was acquired as a part of the right-of-way for the new Salt Creek channel from 10th to 14th.

From Lincoln's Pulpits:

'Heavenly Discourse' Is Topic Of Unitarian Guest Pastor

Rev. I. J. Domas, pastor of First Unitarian Church at Erie, Pa., spoke Sunday at All Souls Unitarian, where he is a candidate for the pastorate.

"A Hundred Years of Heavenly Discourse" was Rev. Domas' topic, and for his theme he used the life and work of Charles Erskine Scott Wood.

Wood, who also was from Erie, and whose father was the author of many books and poems lampooning and poking fun at the follies of his time, including the highly controversial "Heavenly Discourse."

Quoting liberally from this work, Rev. Domas pointed out how the attitudes of Wood's day and age were never more applicable than in 1952. "If there is ever going to be social salvation worthy of the name," Rev. Domas remarked, "it will be characterized in no small measure by our retrieving this uniquely American capacity for laughing at ourselves."

Grace Methodist
The significance of the publishing of the Bible and its many translations, particularly a new English version to be issued soon, was told the Grace Methodist Church congregation Sunday by its pastor, Rev. Harold C. Sandall.

"Today our people need the Scriptures in a language, which is native to them," said Rev. Sandall, citing that in Christ's time the people of Jerusalem spoke a common language, Aramaic, although many other languages were prevalent.

In the English language words change their meaning, he said, and now new discoveries have been made of ancient manuscripts which make a modern translation more meaningful and accurate.

"Each new forward movement of Western civilization has been heralded by a new translation or reading of the Bible," Rev. Sandall noted, pointing out that the Latin Vulgate version of the Bible heralded the Christianizing of the northern tribes of Europe.

Other movements were marked by the Wycliff, Luther and King James versions, he said.

"Today, everyone agrees we are on the verge of a new age—either of darkness or of greater light," Rev. Sandall asserted. "It can be the latter if based upon the truths to be rediscovered through the insights of the Word of God."

These workers will raise at least 50 per cent of the combined goals of the Community Chest and Red Cross.

Lawlor will be assisted by John H. Agee and John T. McGreer, vice chairmen.

Men Need No Ruse To See 'Coed Follies'

A University of Nebraska tradition will be broken this year when the doors to the annual Coed Follies, an all girl show, are opened to the public.

Previously, only women were permitted to the show which includes a series of skits, curtain call acts, a style show and presentation of the Typical Nebraska Coed.

The change was made this year because of repeated "raids" by men which have been especially bad in the past two years, Janet Steffen of Norfolk, chairman of Coed Follies, explained. Miss Steffen said that both officials of the Nebraska Theater, where the show is presented, and Lincoln police have asked the sponsoring Associated Women Students Board to make changes to avoid possible repetition of raids.

Because of limited seating capacity, the show will be presented two nights, Feb. 23 and Feb. 24. This year's arrangement will be used on a trial basis, Miss Steffen said.

Methodist Women Told Requisites For Church Work

Requisites for successful field work were told Sunday by Mrs. W. B. Landrum, field worker for the woman's division of the Methodist Church.

Speaking before the Lincoln district of the Wesleyan Service Guild at Trinity Methodist Church, Mrs. Landrum said the following four points were necessary: a "valiant ideal," a sense of cooperative endeavor, a willingness of creative endeavor and continued progress.

She brought attention to the study program in Africa, home missions and human rights, and stressed the need for missionaries at home and abroad.

A native of Little Rock, Ark., with headquarters in New York City, Mrs. Landrum is spending two weeks in Nebraska speaking at various churches.

A tea was held at the church Sunday following her talk.

Costs Less to Buy

Chevrolet trucks list for less than comparable models of other makes. As the world's largest manufacturer of trucks, Chevrolet can make important production economies that mean substantial savings to you!

Rock-bottom operation and upkeep

Hundreds of thousands of truck users have proved that Chevrolet costs the least of all to own and maintain. Valve-in-Head economy saves on gas. 4-way engine lubrication keeps oil costs low.

On-the-job efficiency saves money

Proved features cut operating and maintenance costs. Valve-in-Head economy, 4-way Lubrication reduces engine wear, Hypoid rear axles, and Flexi-Mounted cabs, Ball-Gear Steering, Synchro-Mesh Transmission.

Keeps its value longer

Chevrolet trucks keep their value longer to bring you traditionally higher value. That means savings at trade-in time. And it puts a clincher on Chevrolet's extra value and ruggedness.

Here are the STRAIGHT SOLID FACTS that lead thousands to better truck buys!

Veterans of the trucking business buy on cold, hard facts. They buy for good, solid, levelheaded reasons. And more and more of them buy Chevrolet trucks. As a matter of fact, they buy more Chevrolet trucks than any other make.

Here's why. Chevrolet trucks are factory-matched to your job. Tires, frame, axles, springs, engine, transmission, brakes. All are right on the job—and right for the job. All are matched to the job, to get work done fast and efficiently—at the lowest possible cost to you! They cost less to buy, own, and operate. And Chevrolet's dependable valve-in-head engines hold fuel costs down, but deliver all the power you need when you need it.

Come in and let's talk it over. Let us show you how great these Chevrolet trucks really are.

RUGGED as they come!

Sound Public Policy

Literally the Nixon episode is a clap of thunder out of a clear sky. Without warning the American people have had dumped in their laps one of the greatest issues of individual conduct in public life raised in 75 years.

Out of all word-juggling, toe-dancing, or double-talk, there is only one question which L'affaire Nixon inspires. Simply stated, it gets down to what is sound public policy when it comes to the behavior of men holding public office? It isn't whether Dick Nixon is a struggling young man trying to get along. It isn't whether Nixon's acceptance of $16,000 or more in the last two years to meet the expenses of life as a senator merely follows a pattern others—Republicans and Democrats alike—may have established. If we are going to have sound public policy—if there is to be a moral climate in the avenues of government service—then the American people are going to have to get down on their knees, look up at the skies and ask their God: "What is sound public policy?"

It would have been better, infinitely better, had the Nixon case developed at a time when a presidential campaign was not in progress. Then there would have been less dust flying, fewer excuses, apologies, less double-talk, and—there is reason to believe—infinitely greater individual appreciation of the exact challenge to clear-cut, forthright American thinking.

It can be said—already it has been said—that Dick Nixon, drawing a salary of $15,000 a year—if a non-taxable expense account of $2,500 a year is to be counted as part of the emoluments of office, liberal allowances for air mail postage, for printing, for long-distance telephone calls, more than $60,000 a year for clerical help—did nothing wrong. That is a jaundiced, cynical conclusion in the most generous acceptance of a nation's efforts to establish sound public policy.

Dick Nixon did this. He campaigned for the Senate, won, and then was sworn in. He took an oath of office. Then he took not only the salary and the allowance which his office provides him, but he accepted private funds to meet expenses which he thought were legitimate. The objective, contributors to that fund indicated, was to take advantage of the services of a super-salesman for "free enterprise"—what ever those words may mean. We think these loyal, devoted friends of "free enterprise" are guilty of not only a great disservice to their own holy cause—or at least they look upon it as holy—but to a young fellow of great political ambition. Where would this practice lead once the American people gave it their approval? What would happen to the greatest parliamentary body in the world if the American people are to say that there is no wrong in a member of the United States Senate: (a) accepting pay from Uncle Sam. (b) accepting a lush roll of private funds from "friends" and "admirers"? Carried to the logical end that there is no wrong if the recipient is not conscious of a moral wrong, where does all this business end? Carried to the logical end, what becomes of sound public policy? Can a man be a free man and serve two masters? Can a man be in the position in which he should be in public life and accept a salary as a public official, and a second bank roll as a spokesman for one group of individuals in American life?

How stupid can Bob Taft be? The Dayton

Herald quoted Taft to the effect that he could see no wrong in this practice adopted by Nixon—no wrong in Nixon's case—no wrong in anybody else's case—in the event that the gift of private funds is unaccompanied by a request for favored treatment or by an attempt to influence the vote of a member of the Senate. How are you to know that when a roll of bills are made available to a man for expenses whether you are influencing his thinking or determining his vote? If this is what the American people want, or if it is what they expect of those they elect to public office, then they ought to say so. Bring it out in the open where anybody from the high school boy or girl on up understands clearly there is no moral wrong in accepting considerable sums of money from private sources to cover expenses of the office.

Is that Bob Taft's view of American public life? If it is, then we hope Sen. Taft never exercises a great influence, an influence sufficient to ingrain this practice upon the shining conscience of public servants. Has Mr. Taft forgotten that back in the twenties when the Republicans came back into power after a war, it developed that in the writing of the Smoot-Hawley tariff law on the clerical staff of a Connecticut senator was a man placed there by the National Association of Manufacturers? He had a hand in writing the individual tariff schedules.

How stupid can men get in the discussion of public issues? Sen. Butler, rushing to the defense of Nixon, suggested private funds for members of congress represent a somewhat common practice in large populous states, although he was careful to point out that he had no knowledge that any Nebraska representative followed it. But take Butler at his word. Is he trying to tell us that because someone else did it, Nixon should do it? Is he suggesting that if the American people do not look upon this as sound public policy, two wrongs make a right? A lot of highly moral people will squirm, sweat, duck, dodge, and come up with the suggestion that Nixon did not intend to do anything wrong. We can even grant that he broke no law, in his mind never intended to do anything improper—and that still leaves unanswered the question of what sound public policy involves.

Is it wrong for an administrative official—say a $6,000-a-year administrative official—who formulates no policy, votes on no pending legislation—certainly occupies no more advantageous position to influence government action than a United States senator—to accept a mink coat, or a deep freeze costing perhaps a few hundred or a few thousand dollars, but entirely all right for a member of the United States Senate to accept $16,000 for private expenses?

There is one requirement in sound public policy that must be met. It not only must be right—it must also appeal to the people of a free country as right. It must also be above suspicion—untroubled by doubts or fears. It must not only be right, but it must satisfy the conscience of the decent people of this country, and by far the overwhelming majority of American people are decent. Otherwise, faith in America, faith in its institutions of government, faith in its three co-ordinate branches of government withers and dies. The glory and beauty of the world's greatest free government turns to gray ash, can be crumbled between the fingers.

If True . . . Inexcusable

It was "Bob Crosby Day" at the Kiwanis Club meeting late last week. After the Republican candidate for governor had spoken, he subjected himself to a question-and-answer period. Someone piped up and wanted to know what Mr. Crosby thought about the $16,000-fund generous, kind-hearted friends of Sen. Nixon had raised in order to help the Republican candidate for vice president sell the American people "free enterprise system."

"If true . . . inexcusable," Mr. Crosby shot back.

Mr. Crosby's reluctance to pronounce judgment could be pardoned, perhaps. He had been traveling on the Eisenhower Special and all he knew about the Nixon affair was snatches he had grabbed from the radio. Nixon does not deny that he was the beneficiary of a donation of more than $16,000 by friends to cover expenditures for postage, for printing, for travel and for clerical help about and beyond the salary he draws as a member of the Senate, $2,500 annually on a tax-free expense account, and more than $50,000 a year for clerical help.

Mr. Crosby may desire a little more enlightenment about the Nixon case. The United Press, quoting a story which appeared in The New York Evening Post, reported that Nixon's backers felt their hero would be competing for promi-

Mere Male Mosquitoes

There is something extremely unfair about the terribly effective mosquito killer developed at Ormond Beach, Fla., where a university professor is making the male answer for the sins of the female.

This anti-mosquito device is a loud speaker which intones the love call of the lady mosquito for miles around. The males head for the loud speaker and are killed by an electric screen.

What makes it so unfair is the fact that male mosquitoes are harmless; it is the female who bites and takes blood from human victims. Thus the only crime of the males is that they bring little female mosquitoes into the world.

It may be necessary to do the job this way, but it seems a pity that the mere male mosquitoes, who love good food and plant juices—but who wouldn't ever drink blood from anyone—have to pay the penalty for what the gals do.

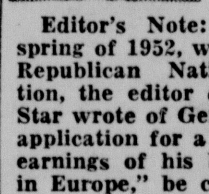

September Statistics

This month, according to the Institute of Life Insurance, is the most healthful month of the year. In September, when the cool, crisp autumn air invigorates all mortals, fewer Americans die than in any other month.

The statistics make sense. September is a wonderful month, and if ever a month was made for living, this is it.

DREW PEARSON

Eisenhower Was Given Tax Loophole On Book

Editor's Note: Early in the spring of 1952, weeks before the Republican National Convention, the editor of The Lincoln Star wrote of Gen. Eisenhower's application for a ruling that the earnings of his book, "Crusade in Europe," be classed as capital-gains instead of income. Drew Pearson, in this column, discusses Gen. Eisenhower's tax case.

What Pearson does not disclose is that at the time Gen. Eisenhower wrote "Crusade in Europe" he was drawing full pay as a five-star general in retirement—more than $18,000 a year—with three aides, and at the same time was president of Columbia University, for which he undoubtedly was compensated generously.

This paper said editorially that Gen. Eisenhower had the assurance of a financial security which relatively few men in this country enjoy. Pearson now reveals that Gen. Eisenhower personally called on Charles Olinphant, who later was forced out of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, to argue for capital-gains on his book. As income, after taxes, Gen. Eisenhower would have had approximately $230,000. As capital gains, after taxes, he got $750,000.

WASHINGTON—Gov. Stevenson complained recently about a one-party press and the fact that 75 per cent of the newspapers are against the Democrats. Unquestionably he has a point there, and to some extent may have been partly responsible for lopsided newspaper coverage.

When, over a period of years, a column has unearthed the extra-curricular activities of Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, the events which helped send John Maragone to jail, the income-tax finagling of Internal Revenue Official Don Bolich, the Egyptian cotton leaks which led to the indictment of Clovis Walker, etc., naturally it accumulates into a big stockpile of political ammunition.

However, this is not only a reporter's job but it so happens that my score-sheet contains quite a few Republicans, such as the kick-backs that resulted in jail sentences for Congressmen Parnell Thomas of New Jersey and Walter Brehm of Ohio; also the lobbying of Sen. Owen Brewster which led to his defeat; the $10,000 Lustron fee of Sen. McCarthy and the tax finagling of Senate Republican Leader Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Covering the news consists not only of reporting what goes on from day to day, but digging up the things below the surface which some people don't want dug up but which the public has a right to know about.

In fulfilling this reporter's obligation, however, I personally shall do my best to be fair to both sides, and do equal digging regarding both parties and candidates.

To this end, here is the result of some digging in the Stevenson entourage which shows one of his men was something of an influence-peddler; also the answer to questions asked by a great many readers regarding Gen. Eisenhower's possible use of influence in paying only a capital-gains tax on his book, "Crusade in Europe."

The man on Stevenson's staff who sold influence is Neal Roach, assistant treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, and now organizer of train and airplane schedules for the Stevenson campaign. He received a fee of $1,000 from the Builders' Control Service of Los Angeles in 1950 for getting a ruling changed by the Veterans Administration permitting the Builders' Control Service to charge a 1½ per cent fee for securing and administering loans on housing projects.

There was nothing illegal about this, but unquestionably influence was used.

Roach came to Washington originally as the protégé of Ed Pauley, big California oilman. He remained on under Chairman William Boyle and under his successor, Frank McKinney. At Chicago recently he helped make arrangements for the Democratic convention and is now on Gov. Stevenson's campaign staff.

The facts regarding Gen. Eisenhower's taxes are that he was paid $1,000,000 for his book, written after his return from Europe. Ordinarily he would have paid taxes of around 77 per cent on this income, leaving him a profit (after taxes) of around $230,000.

Instead, he paid a capital-gains tax of 25 per cent, leaving him a profit of $750,000.

The general secured this highly beneficial tax ruling legally, but a certain amount of influence probably entered the picture.

The general called personally on Charles Olinphant, who later resigned under fire as a result of income-tax exposes by this columnist and the King Committee. Ike argued to Olinphant that he was not a writer, but a soldier, therefore the sale of his writings was a sale of a capital investment, the investment of his own experiences.

Olinphant, who had rolled out the red carpet at the Treasury, took advantage of a tax loophole to give Gen. Eisenhower a prompt ruling in the affirmative.

The most interesting thing is that Congress later moved to prevent anyone else from getting what was dubbed the "Eisenhower Amendment" to the 1950 tax law.

As a result, Gen. Omar Bradley, who wrote his memoirs last year, also made a lot of money. But he had to pay most of it to Uncle Sam in taxes.

The "Eisenhower Amendment" to the 1950 tax law specifically provides that a person selling a book or other artistic work must be taxed the full rate, rather than the bargain, 25 per cent, capital-gains rate.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Stevenson Determined To Stay His Own Boss

CAMPAIGNING WITH GOV. STEVENSON—Gov. Stevenson, campaigning for the presidency from town to town, lacks one very great advantage that his opponent has. That is the built-in reception and response that automatically are accorded Gen. Eisenhower.

Switching from one campaign to the other, as this reporter has done, you are made acutely aware of what that advantage means. For 10 years the Eisenhower name and face have been publicized in every newspaper in America. Stevenson must establish an identification in a very short time.

He is not flamboyant or spectacular in either manner or appearance. You might miss him in a crowd, and some people do when he whisks through small communities in a motorcade.

Furthermore, he has chosen to establish his identity by making the voters think about the issues. That is the hard way. You can see a somewhat puzzled look in the upturned faces of the crowds. It is possible that in these troubled times people would rather not think.

Stevenson, the political school-master, tells them to think and think hard about what lies ahead.

As with every speech thus far, the governor's talk at Hartford on atomic energy was handwritten by the candidate himself. This meant that it had the same careful phrasing, the often brilliant thrust and the determined effort to state a specific stand on a complex and difficult issue that characterize Stevenson's prepared addresses.

Actually it contained little that was new in the way of a prescription for peaceful control of atomic power. But in stressing the need to go on pressing for realistic controls that Soviet Russia will eventually accept, Stevenson reminded the world of the vacuum that now exists in the face of an atomic arms race, with total destruction at the end of it.

This business of a candidate hand-tailoring his own speeches in the fury and the distraction of national campaign is something new in our day. We have become accustomed to the assembly-line product—the adjectives filed off at one point, the verbs toned down at another and the ideas refined to a thin, almost transparent, consistency. Inconsistency might be more accurate; just as the product, it comes off the line.

Popular Pogo Now Neatly Composed In Clay

By JOAN KRUEGER

Star Staff Writer
Pogo, the little comic strip possu-m-politician who has caused a college riot and been subject of many an article, unknowingly has received another boost to fame.

The little fellow has become the model for two of 14-year-old Marilyn Palmer's clay figurines.

Marilyn, daughter of Dr. Janet Palmer, 4040 Randolph, has molded five members of the Pogo world into clay figures ranging from about one inch to four inches high.

She has two models of Pogo, one of Albert the Alligator, one of Little Adam Bug, one of Porkypine and one of Turtle. The gray-colored models are made with powdered clay and water.

Although the Pogo figurines are for Marilyn's personal enjoyment, she has considered making others for her friends.

It takes the Lincoln High School sophomore only one hour to mold a character. She started her first Pogo man about a month ago.

The "whole family" likes Pogo, according to Marilyn. She said the conversations of the characters are what really got them interested in Pogo.

Madam Hepzibah, who is hoping to become Pogo's "first lady," the skunk and the frog are Marilyn's next clay projects.

Plaudits For Swanson

Halsey, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In behalf of the Forest Service and personally I want to extend our appreciation to John Swanson for the fine coverage and publicity which we received during the recent 50th anniversary observation of the Nebraska National Forest. I am sure we will see an increase in the number of trees planted on farms and ranches in Nebraska and greater interest in forestry in Nebraska generally.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Much of the success and the value received from an activity such as the 4-H Division of the Nebraska State Fair is due to preliminary publicity and the type of publicity given the activity during the show. We wish to commend John Swanson and The Star for the excellent publicity and the generous coverage given us during the Nebraska State Fair.

Gus Prestegard

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The passing of Mr. Prestegard was, as has already been stated in the press, a great loss to the state, the community and the church, as well as nationally. Those who had the privilege of knowing him personally and working with him perhaps learned to know him best. Gus had a big heart, and would listen to people of all ages, but his greatest interest was working with and for the young people. It was a great hobby of his to play ball and other games with the young folks in his community, especially in his younger days.

Another project which was near to Mr. Prestegard's heart was his work with the students at the University. He was a member of the Committee for Lutheran Student Work organized in 1923, and served as adviser to the Lutheran Student Foundation, Inc. I have worked with Mr. Prestegard on these committees since 1928 and in his passing have lost one of my most loyal and dearest friends. He gave not only of his means but much of his time that this work might go on. His kind personality—always a smile, never scorn nor harsh words—made him a friend of the young people with whom he worked.

Because of his optimism never to give up, although at times the future seemed hopeless, his dream of a new Lutheran Student Center building is now a reality. As a charter member, he had been looking forward for many years to its completion. His memory will be consecrated as this building is used by the young people, his lasting wish.

America's Problem

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Your editorial lead in Tuesday's Star ("Newly Come To These Shores") is another fine example of your inimitable literary skill. It is a piece replete with high optimism. You are right; there is much that is good in the government of this republic of ours—much good that was fought for and given us by such immortal American statesmen as Jefferson, Lincoln, Robert M. La Follette (the elder), George W. Norris and Franklin D. Roosevelt—good that we of the rank and file would deplore to have wrested from us, which is very likely to happen if the Republican party is again restored to power.

You are also quite right, possibly, in your statement that no single man—not a single political party—is big enough to destroy this American nation. But in making this statement, let us not overlook the powerful group that is back of men and free of party ties, who, for lack of a more fitting term I may call "the ruling class." This group, I warn you, is big enough and powerful enough to destroy America exactly as the sinister group that backed Hitler, destroyed Germany, or that imperialistic group back of Hiro Hito that ruined Japan. Think of the former greatness of these two nations and look at them today!

The group in this country I refer to, which I feel is the instrument threatening this nation, is the same group that within a fortnight following the death of FDR succeeded in completely changing and reversing the nation's foreign policy, which has caused us to aid and abet the reactionary interests in Greece, the exploiting Chiang Kai-shek in China, the reactionaries in Indo-China and Malaya, and the tyrannical Syngman Rhee in Korea, all of which has kept us constantly involved in a costly state of warfare and threatens to plunge us into such a tremendous conflict as bears every promise of reducing this nation to precisely the humiliating condition as that to which Hitler's and Japan's warlords' madness reduced Germany and Japan.

The question therefore which should concern every citizen of America today—and which I dare say does concern a vast majority of us—is this: Is there any hope in the election of Stevenson or Eisenhower that we shall have any change in this foreign policy which was hatched up between the late Sen. Vandenberg and President Truman almost immediately following the death of FDR? As Truman's choice candidate, Stevenson is doubtless pledged to carry out our present foreign policy. As Truman's foreign chief aide, what better may we expect from Gen. Eisenhower in case of his election? This, I submit, is the great problem of the American electorate today.

Suggestions Wanted

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: After reading R. T. Warren's article on September 18, I can see his reasoning for voting for Eisenhower. This election although he was formerly a Democrat. After he stated he was a "full-blooded Englishman," the way he is thinking is clear. He knows full well that if Eisenhower is elected, English will continue to receive aid from Eisenhower in the form of NATO support as well as rehabilitation funds. His lack of reasoning as to the two world wars and the Korean situation bear out the fact he knows little of American history. True, these wars have been under a Democratic President, but war in these United States can only be declared with the vote of Congress.

I would like to ask Mr. Warren what his actions would have been if he had been in a determining position at the time of these three wars. When our ship was sunk by the Germans at the start of World War I, would he have sat back and sent a polite note to the Germans? When the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor, should we have sent another note of protest? When the Communists hurried to overrun Asia, should we have let them have their way as Hitler did by grabbing a few countries at a time until his armies controlled Europe?

This country needs leaders, not men who sit back and find fault with the other administration. If Eisenhower, Mr. Warren or anyone else can offer a good, concrete solution in avoiding wars under these circumstances, or how to settle the Korean conflict, the Democrats would appreciate their suggestions. We hate war as much as anyone else. After all, our sons, too, are landing on foreign soil, perhaps never to return.

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The local police, the county officers and the state safety patrol certainly deserve a pat on the back for the excellent job they did in handling the motorcade going from Lincoln to Omaha for Gen. Dorm Needed At KSTC

... Students Turn Away

Reports have been received from the Nebraska State Teachers College at Kearney that many prospective women students have decided not to enroll in that college because of the lack of adequate housing facilities.

In connection with these reports, the State Normal Board will decide at a meeting next Saturday whether to build an additional large dormitory for women. It has been proposed that a self-liquidating dormitory be built at KSTC. Shown here are architects drawings of the type of dormitory which has been suggested.

Officials expect this structure to cost approximately $400,000, and that over a period of time income from students' rentals could meet this amount. The proposed structure would contain a large amount of window space, and would consist of two wings. It would house about 140 students.

Sparkman To Confer Over Gas For Fertilizer Plant In State

MCCOOK, Neb. (AP)—John T. Harris, McCook, Nebraska chairman of the Committee for Agricultural Progress, announced Sunday that Sen. John Sparkman, Democratic candidate for vice president, will confer with officials of the Northern Natural Gas Company on his visit to Lincoln, Tuesday.

Harris said the meeting will concern the recent application of the firm for permission from the Federal Power Commission to increase its facilities enough to supply 12,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day to the proposed Allied Chemical Corporation plant at La Platte.

To date, Harris said, Northern has had no reply from the commission. He added that it is of vital interest to the members of his committee and to Nebraska farmers to bring a chemical fertilizer plant to this section of the country.

It is progress he said, to replenish the soil with minerals and to increase the yields per acre. Naturally, all Nebraska farmers are interested in the firm's project.

Harris said natural gas is necessary in the manufacture of urea and other nitrogen products which the Allied plant would produce. He added that 12,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day would be sufficient for the needs of 200 medium-sized homes.

Valley County's School Children Will Receive Health Examinations

ORD, Neb.—(Lincoln Star Special)—All school children in Valley County will receive free health examinations within the next few weeks.

The examinations are under the sponsorship of the county's county extension clubs. County Superintendent Fred Applegate has made arrangements for the school children to receive the examinations at various points.

NPA Plans Annual Meeting In Ogallala

OGALLALA, Neb. (AP)—News-papersmen from all parts of Nebraska will be in Ogallala next weekend in connection with the annual meeting of the western district of the Nebraska Press Association.

Officers and directors of the Nebraska Press Advertising Service and the Nebraska Press Association will meet in joint session Saturday afternoon and will remain over for the district meeting on Sunday.

The district meeting will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday with a chuck wagon steak luncheon at Hilltop Inn, above Kingsley Dam.

The business sessions, in addition to election of officers and a roundtable discussion, will feature talks by C. L. Sandahl, editor of the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin and chairman of the Nebraska Editors Highway Conference; Clyde Taylor of Lexington, president of the Nebraska Press Association, and association secretary-manager Vern Scofield of Lincoln. Jess Long, district president, will preside. Walter E. Buechler, publisher of the Keith County News, is in charge of local arrangements.

Proposed Drainage Ditch Termed A Threat To Lake

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A proposed drainage ditch threatens to lower the level of Crystal Lake near South Sioux City, Secretary Paul Gilbert of the State Game Commission announced.

The Izaak Walton League seeks to halt the project with an injunction proceeding, but the bond has been set so high it is prohibitive, according to the report reaching the Game Commission.

The lake is privately owned, but the state has set up a recreation area there.

Gilbert said he understood some federal agency makes payments to farmers to drain and re-claim land.

"This drainage business is a vicious thing. That's hurting our duck population. They've drained the potholes in North and South Dakota," Gilbert explained.

Lake At Fairbury Gets 500 New Fish

FAIRBURY, Neb. — (Lincoln Star Special)—The State Game Commission has added some 500 hundred fish to the north lake at Crystal Springs near here.

According to the Jefferson County Izaak Walton League which requested the stocking, the fish include 300 bass fingerlings and 200 crappie fingerlings. Previously this year six loads of fish had been added to the lakes.

Nebraska Federated Aid Plans October Meeting

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—The annual meeting of the Nebraska Federation of the Aid Association for Lutherans is expected to be attended by about 300 persons here Oct. 19.

The Rev. E. F. Englebert, pastor of the St. Martin Luther Church, Baltimore, will be guest speaker.

Crete Swimming Pool Fund Total At $3,693

CRETE, Neb.—A total of $3,693 in cash and pledges has been reported here in the drive to secure funds to construct a new swimming pool.

The goal of the Crete Swimming Pool Association is $30,000. The drive is now rolling more rapidly and committee members indicate they feel they will be successful in obtaining much of the money this year.

State Deaths

Rites Held At Aurora For Grant Humrich

AURORA—Funeral services were held here for Grant Humrich, 72, resident of Aurora for many years. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Viva Preston of Omaha and Mrs. Dahlene Kenning of Fairbury; and five sons, Glenn and Bob, both of Aurora, Paul of Fairbury and Colonel and Lloyd, both of Lincoln.

NICHOLAS CAPELUS—Word has been received here of the death of Nicholas Capelus, 50, former Fremont resident. He died at his home in Alvion, Ind. Born at David City, he came to Fremont when he was about seven years old. He served with the Fremont Signal Corps during World War I. Surviving are his wife, Cora; two brothers, Mike of Fremont and Pete of Seattle; and two sisters, Mrs. Susie Janda of Omaha and Mrs. Lucy Olds of Elkhart, Ind.

ESTON J. JONES—Funeral services were held here for Eston J. Jones, 88, Hamilton County resident since 1927. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Elma Hiatt and Mrs. Ada Kissel, both of Aurora, and Mrs. Delbert, Ralph of Pasadena, Calif.; and Carl, both of Richmond, Calif.; and Howard of Aurora; 14 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

MRS. FRED WHITMORE—Funeral services were held here for Mrs. Fred Whitmore, 62, who died in a York hospital. Born in Iowa, she had resided in the McCook Junction area since she was three years old. Surviving are her husband; two sons, Billy and Frank, both of McCook; a daughter, Isabelle, attending Bohart.

Hastings Banker Dead

HASTINGS, Neb.—O. A. Riley, 66, banker and prominent civic leader here for many years, died Saturday.

Mr. Riley was a past president of the Nebraska State Bankers Association and served as chairman of the association's executive council.

Surviving are his wife, a daughter, and a son, Lieut. Col. Russell R. Riley, now in Korea.

Farm Implement Company Appeals For End Of Strike

CHICAGO (AP)—International Harvester Company has issued personal appeals to striking employees to return to work. The big farm equipment firm said foremen at eight strike-bound plants in Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky were making personal calls on strikers in an effort to end a walkout which began Aug. 21.

About 22,000 members of the independent Farm Equipment-United Electrical Workers Union are involved in the strike, some 12,000 of them in three Chicago plants. The walkout began when negotiations on the union's more than 120 demands collapsed.

Henninger Returns From Washington

Gen. Guy N. Henninger, state adjutant general and five Lincoln Air Base officials has returned from Washington, D. C., after a meeting of state adjutant generals.

The meeting, called by the National Guard Bureau, was concerned with administration procedures for the Air National Guard to be initiated Jan. 1, 1953. Details on personnel, and requisition and acquisition of supplies and materials were discussed.

Accompanying Henninger were Lt. Col. W. J. Atkinson, U. S. Purchasing and disbursement officer of the 8173rd Air Base Squadron at Lincoln; Lt. Jack Assen, base operations officer; Lt. Louis McCroy of the state adjutant general's office; and Capt. Roger Charles, air supply officer.

The group had been in the national capital since Tuesday. 1 In 6 Douglas County Polio Victims Received Treatment In Own Home

OMAHA (AP)—About one of every six polio victims in Douglas County in the current record breaking epidemic has been treated at home, a check of city-county health department records has showed.

The report showed that 56 of the 353 polio cases in the county have been treated at home—at least in the early contagious stage.

That is about one of every 800 residents. And it shows the reason for home treatment. Hospital facilities are overtaxed.

Falls City Church Files $10,000 Claim On Woman's Estate

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—The First Methodist Church of Falls City has filed a claim for $10,000 against the estate of the late Mrs. Carrie Henderson.

The claim is based on the contention that Mrs. Henderson made a pledge in writing for that amount to the church approximately one month before she died, and about a month after she had made her will in which the church was not named among the beneficiaries of the estate.

5-State American Lutheran Meeting Held In Beatrice

BEATRICE, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—The sixth annual central District Brotherhood convention of the American Lutheran Church opened Saturday at St. John's Lutheran Church.

The convention, which included 54 brotherhoods with a total membership of 2,000 was concluded late Sunday. The group represents five midwestern states. Between 300 and 400 persons were present at the two-day affair.

MYRTLE BURKS—Funeral services were held here for Myrtle Burks, 65, who died in a Lincoln hospital. Born at Hubbell, Neb., she came to Beatrice with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Burks, in 1892. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. E. G. Muenster and Osborne, and Mrs. George A. Gustafson of Beatrice.

Broken Bow Weekly Leads County Drive For Mental Hospital Chapel

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—With advertisement, announcing: "This newspaper is undertaking a public service out of the ordinary. We have volunteered to head a drive for money in this region to help build a chapel at Ingleside—largest mental hospital in Nebraska, where there is no church building at all, to meet the needs of 1,800 patients."

Groups taking an active interest in the Custer County effort in the 53-county $100,000 campaign are the Rotary clubs at Arnold and Ansley, the Commercial Clubs at Callaway and Comstock, and the Lions clubs at Merna and Sargent.

Dr. Silas C. Kessler, chairman of the chapel committee, Elmer Fels, a committee member, and Earl Hunter, fieldman, all of Hastings, have been appearing before the various groups as they organize for the drive in their respective communities.

Meanwhile the Custer County Chief came out with a full page advertisement, announcing: "This newspaper is undertaking a public service out of the ordinary. We have volunteered to head a drive for money in this region to help build a chapel at Ingleside—largest mental hospital in Nebraska, where there is no church building at all, to meet the needs of 1,800 patients."

Other excerpts from the Chief include:

"For all of Custer County the suggested quota is $4,070, based on the average number of patients at Ingleside, coming from this county . . . we hope we can so direct our readers in their thinking that the funds for Custer County will speedily be raised . . . We are positively convinced that one of the great needs for effective treatment of our mentally ill is a chapel at Ingleside."

Johnson County's Voters To Decide On Hospital Bonds

TECUMSEH, Neb.—Johnson County voters will decide by ballot Nov. 4 on the issuance of bonds to finance construction of a $150,000 county hospital.

The proposition will be presented to the voters as they go to the polls in the special election. They will mark a special ballot for the hospital vote.

The issue was ordered placed before the voters by the Johnson County Commissioners. The $140,000, if approved, would be used to both build and equip a new county hospital.

Good Morning, Autumn

Plans October Wedding

MISS DIANE MANNING

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Manning of Trenton are this morning announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Diane, to Russell D. Kugler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Kugler of Culbertson. The wedding will take place in Trenton on Sunday, Oct. 19. Miss Manning has attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. Mr. Kugler was graduated from the University of Nebraska and is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

THERE WERE numerous arrivals in town during the past week-end — and among them was autumn who is here for a three months stay and therefore brought along the makings for some cold weather later on — Anyway, as we said before, the town was full of visitors and the great majority of them were football fans — Naturally it depended upon the cheering section in which you were sitting Saturday afternoon, but to all Nebraskans it was a great day—followed by lots of fun. But since we already have taken care of the social angles of the first football games of the season, we'll get on to other matters of interest.

her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Osborn — It seems that Miss Sharon was celebrating her birthday anniversary at the same time her grandparents were celebrating their wedding anniversary.

Gleason. And while saying a "hello" to Mrs. Raymond we learned that a family dinner was in progress as a courtesy to Lieut. and Mrs. Douglas Raymond Gleason who also had just arrived in Lincoln.

In the family group were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond, of course, their grandson and Mrs. Gleason; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rogers, Mrs. Stanley Zemer and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Doran Hildebrand; and Mrs. O. W. Everett.

UNDERSTAND that Mr. and Mrs. Ray Becker were a dinner host and hostess on Sunday at their home when they entertained a small group of guests in courtesy to their week-end house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Jensen of St. Paul.

Then we learned that Mrs. Virgil Parris of Nebraska City will arrive on Tuesday to spend a few days as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Becker. Mrs. Parris, president of the Nebraska City Presbyterian society, will attend a district meeting to be held at the First Presbyterian church on Thursday.

OUT PORTLAND, ORE., way we understand, Dr. and Mrs. Russell Gustavson (Peggy Lawrie) are pretty excited about the Nebraska-Oregon game at Portland next Saturday — In fact the Gustavsons now are members of Portland's Nebraska Alumni club, and Mrs. Gustavson is serving on the alumni association's committee for an all-Nebraska banquet following the game next Saturday.

State PTA Sponsors Institutes

MRS. ELLEN DELL BIELER

The Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers, in conjunction with the National P. T. A. Congress, has scheduled a fall series of leadership training institutes to replace the former P. T. A. district conferences, usually held throughout the state during October.

With the cooperation of Mrs. Andrew Nelson of Omaha, state P. T. A. chairman for the institutes, the series will be directed by Mrs. Ellen Dell Bieler, field consultant for the National Congress. A resident of Western Springs, Ill., Mrs. Bieler has had experience in child welfare activities as a parent, educator and community leader. An active member of the P. T. A., Mrs. Bieler has served as a Girl Scout leader and consultant, a member of the community's library board, and has taught psychology at Elmhurst college, and LaGrange Junior college. She is a graduate of Columbia university teachers college, and received a master's degree from the University of Chicago. Participating in the institutes will be Mrs. A. E. Hanneman of Lincoln, state president of the Nebraska P. T. A., who with Mrs. Bieler will attend a special college cooperation conference at Chadron, October 15, where Mrs. Bieler will be convocation speaker.

MRS. A. E. HANNEMAN

The institute series will be held at follows: October 2 and 3, Omaha; October 6 and 7, Norfolk; October 9 and 10, Kearney; October 13, Grand Island; October 17 and 18, Alliance; October 20, Scottsbluff; October 22, McCook; October 24, North Platte; October 27 and 28, Fairbury; and October 30 and 31, Lincoln.

WOMAN'S A Note To Dieters

Contrary to common belief, almost all foods supply calories, according to Dr. Ruth M. Leverton, well-known human nutritionist, who has prepared a ten-day diet series, which is being printed by The Lincoln Star. Each day's menu contains 1,200 calories. Calories in excess of your need, Miss Leverton continues, not any kind of food, make you fat. For good nutrition, you need a variety of foods, such as used in this diet. Today's diet, the sixth in the series is as follows:

BREAKFAST

Tomato juice, ½ cup
Egg, boiled or poached, 1 med.

Autumn Wedding

The marriage of Miss Helen Alwillah Oakes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar H. Oakes of Salem, to Jerome H. Vance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Vance of Rushville, took place Sunday afternoon, Sept. 7, at the Salem Congregational Church. White candles in seven-branched candelabra, and arrangements of white gladioli and greenery, formed the background for the 3 o'clock service, the lines of which were read by the Rev. Harold Fryday.

Preceding the ceremony Jack Russell of Scotia sang, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Fryday, pianist, who also played the wedding music.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Gene Harding of Chester, who wore an ankle-length frock of emerald green taffeta fashioned with long sleeves, fitted bodice and full skirt. A bandeau of taffeta held her noseveil of gold net, and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Lighting the candles were Miss Carolyn Huston and Miss Kathryn Huston, frocked alike in net over taffeta shading from pale gold to deep bronze.

William I. By of Alliance served Mr. Vance as best man and the ushers were Raymond Horton of Salem, cousin of the bride, and Gene Harding of Chester, Johnnie Horton, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

White nylon net over satin designed the bride's gown. Long sleeves ending in points over the hands and a decollete yoke accented the bodice, beneath which the skirt flared into waltz-length fullness. Her veil was of illusion and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses.

A reception for one hundred seventy-five guests was held at the church, after which the couple left for Colorado. Mrs. Vance wore a frock of wine wool trimmed with black velvet. Both Mr. and Mrs. Vance are former students of the University of Nebraska and will make their home in Lincoln.

EXCHANGE That Ailing Skin

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

There's many an unpleasant and unlovely skin condition that cannot be blamed on diet, allergy, dermatitis or emotional upset. One very common one—a bumpy, rough condition on the upper arms—is the result of sluggish circulation. And that sluggish circulation is the result of too little exercise plus improper wash-and-brush techniques.

Quick improvement will result the moment you acquire a firm-bristled bath brush or a hand sponge and put it to work during your daily tub or shower. Using a mild soap, give the affected area a stiff going over—keep at it until the skin shows pink.

Smooth as Cream

Twice each day thoroughly massage the arms with a rich body lubricant (yes, even if your face and back are overly oily). Work not only to lubricate but to stimulate the circulation as much as possible.

If you're faithful, in short order your skin will be as smooth as cream.

If your upper arms are heavier than figure beauty allows, add this friction exercise, which will not only increase circulation but slim contours at the same time:

Lie on your back on a rug or towel-covered floor. Stretch your legs out straight and bend your elbows so your hands rest on your shoulders. Raise your elbows and slap your upper arms against the floor. Repeat briskly for fifty counts but not so hard you cause bruises.

Physical attractiveness is made up of just such small points as the one discussed here today. Know what your troubles are — seek their solution instead of just accepting them as a personal affliction or deficiency. In so doing, you increase your poise and personal magnetism right along with your personal appearance!

Minerva's Mail Take Your Troubles To Minerva

Had some interesting mail during the week-end, but since we have only a certain amount of space this morning we'll save some of the letters until tomorrow, and take this time to answer questions.

Dotty has asked us if, after a girl has dated a boy four or five times, it is proper to call him and invite him over. It seems that the young man in the case hasn't called her for about a week, and she is wondering if he is angry, if she has hurt his feelings, or whether he is giving her the well known "brush-off."

Well, Dotty, I am inclined to say—"No, I wouldn't call him." But perhaps you haven't told me all of the circumstances. Are you just assuming that the reason he hasn't been coming on your door step in recent days is because you may have made him angry or hurt his feelings? If you are certain that you have done one or the other, then call him and apologize. But under no circumstances call him just to ask him if he is angry with you. And even though you apologize for something you may have done, don't invite him over—he'll take care of that himself. My guess is that the lad doesn't feel called upon to spend all of his time with just one girl, and I feel that he will call you again only if and when he chooses to do so. In the meantime, date other boys. There's nothing that puts a girl right on the shelf

Club Meeting

Mrs. Edward Debus was hostess to the members of the Eight Club at the group's September meeting last Wednesday. Following luncheon, the afternoon hours were spent playing cards.

New officers of the club are: Mrs. Jo Ann Grove, president; Mrs. Arlene Dinges, secretary-treasurer; and publicity chairman, Mrs. Henry George.

Bethany PTA

The September meeting of Bethany P.T.A. will be held at 1:30 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, at the school, when guest speaker will be Mrs. Joseph Wishart who will present a demonstration on flower arrangements.

Mrs. Garland Shields, president, will conduct the business meeting and garden awards will be presented to the pupils.

Auxiliary Board To Meet Friday

The fall board meeting of the Nebraska Medical auxiliary will be held in Lincoln next Friday, September 26, at the Hotel Cornhusker. Mrs. Richard Garlinghouse of Lincoln, state president, will preside at the morning and afternoon sessions, and a luncheon will be held at 1 o'clock at the hotel.

For the benefit of the county auxiliary presidents throughout the state, who are expected to attend, the chairman of the state auxiliary's standing committees will discuss program plans and projects for the coming year.

Executive officers who will be present include: Mrs. Garlinghouse, president; Mrs. James P. Donelan, Omaha, president-elect; Mrs. Isalah Lukens, Tekamah, first vice president; Mrs. Lynn Sharrar, Lincoln, second vice president; Mrs. Hiram Hilton, Lincoln, recording secretary; Mrs. Arthur L. Smith, Jr., Lincoln, corresponding secretary; Mrs. George W. Covey, Lincoln, treasurer; and directors, Mrs. Frank Tanner, Lincoln; Mrs. Arthur J. Olfertman, Omaha; Mrs. Ted Ridgell, Scottsbluff; and Mrs. George DeMay, Grand Island.

EED Club Meets

The EED Club will meet on Tuesday, September 23, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Dobson for a 1 o'clock luncheon.

Bennet Extension Clubs Give Tea

The members of the Bennet Woman's Club, and the Extension Clubs in the Bennet area joined forces for a gala afternoon last Friday. The Bennet Woman's Club sponsored a flower show, and the Extension Clubs did the honors as tea hostesses. More than one hundred members of the Woman's Club, the Extension Clubs and their guests attended the affair.

Presiding at the tea table is Mrs. Reed Monk, president of the Log Cabin Extension Club, and standing, left to right, we find Mrs. C. F. Jensen, chairman of the tea; Mrs. Merle Jensen, president of the Get Together Extension Club; Mrs. W. H. Klepinger, president of the Friendly Circle Club of Panama; Mrs. Ross Nisley, president of the Bennet Woman's Club, and Mrs. Henry Bremer, president of the Goldenrod Club. Mrs. C. F. Jensen, the tea chairman, told The Star that the Bennet Woman's Club originated the idea of the Friday afternoon event, but that the Extension Clubs were very willing to bring their floral arrangements to the show, and to sponsor the tea.

The members of all of the groups and their guests were welcomed by Mrs. Merle Jensen who, during the afternoon, introduced the Lancaster County Extension Club chorus which presented a program of music.

Stevenson Makes Major Labor Talk Today To AFL Delegates

Southland Reception 'Pleasing'

By MARVIN ARROWSMITH
NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, "pleased and flattered" by the reception a Southern audience gave him, worked Sunday on a major labor address which he hopes will clinch AFL endorsement of his presidential candidacy.

All advance indications were that the organization would follow up with a decision to abandon its traditional policy of neutrality in presidential campaigns and vote on Tuesday to back Stevenson.

The CIO already has endorsed the Illinois governor who is on record in favor of repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential candidate, told the AFL convention last week he favors some changes in the law, but not repeal.

Attends Episcopal Service
Stevenson attended services this morning at the East 74th Street Episcopal Church of the Resurrection. A Unitarian himself, the governor went to the Episcopal Church at the invitation of an old classmate at Harvard Law School, J. Keith Kane, attorney.

Stevenson was accompanied by one of his sons, John Fell, 17, and by Kane and his family. Stevenson sat next to Constance Kane, who was celebrating her 10th birthday Sunday.

Stevenson had lunch with Francis Cardinal Spellman at the Catholic prelate's Madison Avenue residence. The Illinois governor was accompanied by one of his sons, Adlai III, 22.

No Envy Discussion
A reporter then asked Stevenson, with Spellman standing alongside, whether there had been any discussion at the luncheon of Stevenson's statement last Monday that he did not believe, as President, he would propose sending an ambassador to the Vatican.

"We never mentioned that," the governor replied with a smile. "There was no discussion of it."

At that point, Spellman laughed and said he thought it was a good time for him to leave.

In his earlier statement, at a news conference, Stevenson said he thought the idea of sending an ambassador to the Vatican was "highly incompatible" with the separation of church and state theory set forth in the Constitution.

The governor added, however, that he saw no great disadvantage in sending a special representative to Rome, as has been done before.

DEMOCRATS

WASHINGTON (INS)—Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia said Sunday night he plans to vote for Democratic candidate Stevenson for President, but without enthusiasm.

Talmadge For Adlai
The Southern Democratic governor said he does not "look with favor" on what he termed Stevenson's "leftward march," but said he is just as unenthusiastic about GOP presidential candidate Eisenhower.

Talmadge stated, however, that he will cast his ballot for Gov. Stevenson and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), because "there's not much to be gained by leaving the Democratic party."

The Georgia governor said "it is too early to tell" whether GOP should be condemned for accepting an $18,000 fund to meet political expenses, but declared the development has "dulled the point of the corruption issue" for the Republicans.

He also was critical of the fact that Sparkman employed his wife as secretary at government expense.

Talmadge, appearing on NBC's television "Meet the Press" program, commented: "I think that's just as unethical as Sen. Nixon's practice, but nepotism has been carried to extremes on all levels."

He predicted that Georgia will go Democratic in the November election, but said it is "conceivable" that some of the other traditionally solid Southern states might vote Republican this year.

George E. Funk, 58, Auditor Here, Dies

George Edward Funk, 58, of 3353 Starr, died at his home Sunday.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Bantion funeral home, Sioux Falls, S.D. Burial will be in Sioux Falls.

An auditor for Central Electric Company, he was a member of the Masonic Lodge at Hastings.

Surviving are his wife, Daisy B., a son, Lt. George Funk Jr., with the armed services; a daughter, Mrs. Gwendolyn Bell of Des Moines; his mother, Mrs. Carrie Funk of Hastings; a brother, Bayard of Los Angeles; and five grandchildren.

REPUBLICANS

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Sen. Richard Nixon, fighting desperately to remain on the Republican presidential ticket, decided Sunday to give a public accounting of his personal finances.

Accounting Promised
The vice presidential candidate, who is under fire in connection with a $18,000 political fund, said in a prepared statement:

"I am preparing a complete statement of my entire financial history.

"I realize it will be misrepresented, but I feel that when any question is raised about a public official he should make this information available to the public."

No Explanation
James Bassett, the California senator's press secretary, who read the statement to newsmen, said the financial data will be given out sometime Monday during the Nixon special train's trip to Seattle.

There was no explanation as to what Nixon meant when he said it will be misrepresented.

Bassett said that the vice presidential candidate had decided to tell about his personal finances because of the many inquiries in recent days.

Former Navy Officer
He called the questions raised both relevant and irrelevant, "legitimate and of a smear nature." But he did not specify the details of the inquiries.

"We want to set the record straight," said Bassett.

Nixon was a struggling young lawyer who had seen long World War II service as a navy officer when he ran successfully for Congress against New Deal Rep. Jerry Voorhis (D-Calif.).

Whether Nixon's decision to disclose his financial background was his own idea or was suggested by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower or his campaign advisors was not discussed. But, in any event, the young senator probably realized that he may not have too much time left to present his case.

Slight Fire Damage

Waste paper which caught fire underneath the oven in Jack's Steak House on West O was blamed for a fire which caused slight damage to the floor Sunday morning, Lincoln fire officials reported.

$3.3 Million To Be Spent On Navy Air Installation Here

The Navy has announced that it will spend $3,372,000 on the Lincoln Naval Air Station by next June 30.

Construction will involve airfield paving, hangar, communications, utilities, roads, and aviation fuel storage, according to an item included in the public works program for the current fiscal year.

Possible transfer of the Naval installation from the Lincoln Air Base in connection with its current reactivation program by the Air Force was spiked by the announcement.

Former "FAT GIRL" Helen Fraley, An EXPERT On Reducing . . . Says "I DRINK Roberts VADA"

If you've ever counted calories, you'll applaud the accomplishment of Mrs. Helen Fraley, of Blair, Nebraska, as published in the August issue of Ladies' Home Journal.

In two years' time, Mrs. Fraley lost 160 pounds . . . reduced her waistline 22 inches . . . and "graduated" from a size 60 dress to a size 14!

"I still have to be careful of what I eat," admits this modern Cinderella, who is now on a maintenance diet of less than 2,000 calories a day. "That's why I'm thankful for Roberts VADA—the delicious new dairy product that's high in vitamins and proteins, but low in butterfat!"

Few folks need to shed as many pounds as did Mrs. Fraley. But statistics show that more than 25% of our adult population should reduce. And all of these persons could well include Roberts VADA in their daily diet.

"I drink Roberts VADA with every meal," says Mrs. Fraley.

Why don't YOU?

Ask For VADA Today!

Two years ago, Mrs. Fraley looked like this. She weighed 295 pounds, wore a size 60 dress, measured 52 inches around the waist!

Giants' Pennant Must Win All As Dodgers Lose All To Gain A Tie

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Black pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to within one victory of clinching the 1952 National League pennant Sunday while the New York Yankees protected their 1½ game edge over Cleveland in the American League's flag battle.

Black, making his first start of the season, pitched the Brooks to an 8-2 triumph over the Boston Braves while last year's miracle winners, the New York Giants, fell before the Yankees and Philadelphia, 6-2. The Dodgers lead the Giants by six games with six contests to play. The Brooks, assured of no worse than a tie for the pennant, need either a victory or a tie to clinch.

Allie Reynolds pitched the Yankees to a brilliant 1-0 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics while Bob Lemon twirled the pursuing Indians to a 7-1 conquest over Detroit's tail-end Tigers.

Reynolds permitted only three hits in racking up his sixth shut-out and 19th victory. Reynolds was in hot water throughout as he issued eight walks.

The A's had the Yankees' gritty righthander sweating in the seventh and ninth innings. Cass Michaels tripled to open the seventh but died on third.

Philadelphia loaded the bases with one out in the ninth. Reynolds then threw three balls to Joe Astroth but followed up with two called strikes and finally nailed the A's catcher on a pop fly. Former Yank Al Clark batted first and popped up Reynolds' first pitch to end the game.

Byrd, who blanked the Yankees on one hit on Sept. 3, permitted the fifth hit but two came in the sixth inning along with a pair of walks to produce the game's lone run. Yogi Berra singled home Joe Collins from second base with the vital marker.

Lemon had it much easier than Reynolds, coasting to his 21st victory as the Indians supported his four-hit pitching with an 11-hit attack against Art Houtteman and two relief pitchers. Al Rosen was the Indian's big gun, driving in four runs on his 27th homer and a double.

Rosen's blasting boosted his RBI figure to 101. Black tamed the Braves on three hits and would have had a shutout but for a two-run error by Carl Furillo in the fourth. The game marked Black's 55th appearance of the season, a Brooklyn record. The former high of 54 was set in 1943 by Les Webber.

The Dodgers snapped a 2-2 tie with six runs in the eighth inning. Roy Campanella singled home the tie-breaking run, Black singled home two more and Furillo climaxed the uprising with a two-run double.

Meyer scattered nine hits in besting the fading Giants. Gran Hammer singled across two runs in the first inning and Bill Nicholson iced the decision with a three-run homer off Jim Hearn in the fourth.

Home runs decided remaining National League games. Ted Kluszewski and Rookie Jim Green-grass homered to account for all of Cincinnati's runs in its 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh. Bill Serena clouted a two-run homer in the seventh to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 3-2 victory over St. Louis. Stan Musial's first inning homer spoiled Bob Rush's shutout.

In other American League games, Billy Pierce pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 4-1 triumph over St. Louis and the Boston Red Sox scored five runs in the ninth inning to crush Washington, 7-3.

Huskers Concentrate On Oregon Fray quarter on a 38-yard pass play from Quarterback Hal Dunham to Halfback George Shaw.

The outstanding player on the field was 6-foot 5-inch Emory Barnes of Oregon, one of the nation's leading high jumpers. Barnes, playing his first game of college football, stopped the UCLA attack single-handedly at times.

Played in Portland, the Saturday night game will begin at 9:15 o'clock, Lincoln time. The Huskers will leave Lincoln at 9:40 a.m. Friday by plane and return home at 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Nebraska came out of the South Dakota game without any serious injuries. Guard Charley Bryant, knocked out during the game, was pronounced all right and ready for Monday drills.

Along with the tackling, which was fairly crisp for early season, the Huskers seemed improved in backfield depth, particularly at fullback. Fullbacks Ray Novak and George Cifra, each scoring two touchdowns, and All-American Bobby Reynolds, showing his All-American form of 1950 although used sparingly, were among the Huskers' offensive guns.

Reynolds, on his 50-yard run, got stellar assistance from Bob Smith, who threw a key block on the 10-yard line.

Encouraging also was the improved play of Dan Brown and Duane Rankin, sophomore quarterbacks.

The big news in the Big Seven, of course, will be the meeting of Colorado and Oklahoma at Boulder. Favorites along with Kansas in the conference race, the meeting between the Buffaloes and Sooners should have heavy bearing on the race.

In barely edging little San Jose State Saturday, 20-14, Colorado lost seriously through injury to its prize scabbard, Woody Shelton. Shelton will be lost for both the Oklahoma game and the one with Kansas the following Saturday.

After scaring mighty Maryland, 13-12, Missouri meets another of the nation's top teams, California, at Berkeley.

Iowa State faces Illinois and Kansas, fresh from a surprising 13-0 win over touted Texas Christian, meets Santa Clara.

Movies of the South Dakota-Nebraska game will be shown at the coliseum tonight at 7:30.

Walter Byers, executive director of the N.C.A.A., said the membership committee considered the case as confidential until such time as the N.C.A.A. council announced disposition of them.

Byers said the next council meeting probably will be held the week beginning Oct. 13, either in Kansas City or Chicago.

Although names of the schools involved in the investigation were not announced, it was generally understood that the University of Kentucky's scandal-ridden basketball situation was on the agenda.

Convincing Wins Give Bulldogs Nod; Benson, Fremont, North Next In Line

By JIM CLARK
Star Sports Staff Member

THE power-laden North Platte Rockets, a highly polished band of grid warriors for this early season date, skipped to the top of the Class A ratings Monday as The Lincoln Star opened its weekly selection on the basis of games won and apparent team potential.

Defending Champion Lincoln High was displaced at the top rung because of its inconclusive showing in the rain against Omaha Central in its only appearance against a state Class A club.

The Links, with All-Staters Ted King and Leroy Buthers shouldering the burden, twirled merrily past a tough West Waterloo, Ia., team Friday night to land the third place berth.

In second place with two convincing victories to their credit, both against Class A clubs, are the North Platte Bulldogs.

Besides landing the two upper berths, the Rockets and Bulldogs boast the top scorers among the Class A schools in Ken Forbes and Eugene Pittman.

Forbes, the Rockets' hard-running halfback, is setting the offensive pace with 37 points to his credit by virtue of six touchdowns and one placement. Pittman, the Bulldogs' 160-pound scabbard, holds scoring honors in the Big Ten Conference with 30 points on five touchdowns. After tallying three times against Kearney, Pittman embarrassed the Beatrice defensive unit Friday night with punt returns of 50 and 45 yards for touchdowns.

Omaha Benson, with a commanding lead in Omaha's inter-city competition, slid into fourth place in the ratings above the Fremont Tigers, who have two wins but only one against a Class A club.

Completing the top ten are Omaha North, Grand Island, Scottsbluff and Omaha Central.

North, the pre-season favorite to cop top honors in the Gate City, squeezed by Grand Island, 6-0, when Lyle Odell snared Sam Natase's pass in the end zone with four minutes left in the game.

Jerry Lee's sophomore-studded Third City club trails the Vikings in the ratings after their Friday night showing and an opening encounter verdict over the Curtis Aggies.

The Scottsbluff Bears, perennial power in the West, slipped into ninth place, since they haven't met a worthy opponent to test their true strength.

Rounding out the Top Ten in last place is Omaha Central. While failing to cop a verdict in their first two encounters, the Eagles proved themselves worthy of consideration by holding third-place Lincoln to six points and fourth-place Benson to eight.

Rule Changes Affect Huskers
Recent rule changes installed in collegiate football proved a big hurdle Saturday as penalties sent the Huskers back some 120 yards.

Chief rule infraction concerned a revision in the ruling on clipping, which now makes it illegal for a player to block another from behind. Previously clipping was inferred when a blocker landed his blow below the waist.

Among the other recent changes are:
1. An increase of 15 yards from five yards for defensive holding or failure of the offensive team to pause for a second after the huddle or shift before the ball is snapped.
2. If a passer is fouled on an incomplete pass, the penalty will now be measured from the spot of the previous down rather than from the point of the foul.
3. An invalid signal for a fair catch will result in a 15-yard penalty. The player making the catch will be permitted to take two steps to regain his balance.
4. If a player enters the game when the ball is ready for play, his team will be penalized five yards and also will be charged with a timeout.

Missouri 'Underrated,' Declares Jim Tatum
COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — After a look at the motion pictures of his highly favored club's squeaking victory over Missouri, Maryland football coach Jim Tatum Sunday repeated what he had said before the game.

"Missouri's the most underrated team in the country," said Jim.

University Club Quarterbacks In Opening Huddle
The University Club Quarterbacks will hold their first session of the season today at 12 o'clock at the club in the Stuart Building.

Each J. William Glassford will be quizzed about his Huskers' victory over South Dakota and Scout Ray Prochaska will tell about Oregon, the next foe.

Clarence Swanson will be moderator and Mayor Victor Anderson, president of the club, will be the No. 1 Quarterback.

Walter Byers, executive director of the N.C.A.A., said the membership committee considered the case as confidential until such time as the N.C.A.A. council announced disposition of them.

Byers said the next council meeting probably will be held the week beginning Oct. 13, either in Kansas City or Chicago.

Although names of the schools involved in the investigation were not announced, it was generally understood that the University of Kentucky's scandal-ridden basketball situation was on the agenda.

THE ROAD grows rockier for Northeast this week. After an easy 27-0 win over Beatrice followed by a 47-7 rout of Omaha Holy Name, the Rockets run headlong into Fremont, a team which owns a pair of lopsided wins comparable to those ticked off by Bun Galloway's smooth-running club. The Tigers have blasted Class B Schuyler, 40-0, and last week swarmed over Norfolk, 35-14, to set themselves up as a tough opponent for the high-flying Rockets.

Lincoln High's vaunted offensive — paced by All-State Halfback Ted King — mowed down West Waterloo, Ia., 27-6, in mid-season form, but a defense that left something to be desired indicated that the Links will need to do some work between now and their meeting Friday with Beatrice.

The game is of special interest to Capital City fans, who'll use it as a measuring stick to compare the Links and Rockets, scheduled to meet for the city grid title on Oct. 3 — just a week later.

Coach Vince Aldrich's Cathedral Eleven showed the effects of offensive drills last week as they blasted St. Mary's of Grand Island, 28-0, to jump into the win column. Next on the Bluebirds' slate is their meeting with St. Patrick's at Fremont Friday.

And College View, minus the services of at least two counted-out veterans, dropped its second game of the season to Plattsmouth Friday night, 27-7. The Viewmen will attempt to get into the swing of things in their home opener on the Hilltop Friday night, when they host Omaha Westside in an Eastern Nebraska Eight local fray.

Kenny Forbes spiraled far into the lead in the city scoring race as he chalked up four touchdowns and a placement against the Ramblers. He holds a fat edge in the race, with 37 points to the Links' 27. Cathedral, who dents the ranks for the first time this week with an 18-point total.

Another newcomer is Ted King, King, who last year set a new Lincoln High scoring record of 106 points, enters in a tie for fourth and fifth with Ron Steele of Northeast. Each has two touchdowns for 12 points.

Other newcomers to the list are Bill Fry of Northeast, Bob Barnett, Dean Stoneman and Don Erway of Lincoln, Joe Clark, Stan Peters and Dave Kubitchek of Cathedral, and Louie Meinecke of College View.

Marciano 8-5 Favorite Over Jersey Joe

Both Fighters At Keen Edge For Tuesday Night Bout; $500,000 Gate Is Predicted

By JACK HAND
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott and Rocky Marciano, honed to a keen fighting edge, ripped through their final workouts Sunday for Tuesday's heavyweight title fight at Municipal Stadium with bullish reports from the promoters indicating a gate of over $500,000.

The 38-year old Walcott, defending his championship for the second time, ended his ring work at Atlantic City, N. J., where he has been manhandling his sparring partners.

Never before has Walcott, a cagey veteran with a half-dozen styles, been such a training camp slugger. Usually he

Stan Stroh Fires 64 To Break Course Record At Park Valley

A RECORD-BREAKING round of 64, fired by Stan Stroh at Park Valley Stadium, overshadowed two big city tournaments as Lincoln golfers turned out in full force over the weekend.

Stroh, playing with Harry Burkey of Hastings, went around Lincoln's only sand greens layout twice with rounds of 30 and 34. The 30 was a new record for Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Likes' course, shading the previous mark of 33 set only last week by Dick Spomer.

Stroh had six birdies and three pars on his spectacular front nine and six pars, two birds and one bogey — on the last hole — on the back nine.

His playing companion, Burkey, manufactured a nifty 37-36-73. Another top score was Gene Klum's 40-40-80. About 150 sand greens turned out over the weekend.

Joe Gifford Sr. had the best Sunday score at Pioneer — a 70. Other low scores at Pioneer were Wilbert Everett, 76; Paul Gillespie, 76; Clayton Anderson, 75; Gordon Jenkins, 78; Paul Lang, 79; Tom Risser, 79. Approximately 300 turned out over the weekend.

Pro Bunny Richards announced the results of the first half of Hillcrest's Grand Sweepstakes, a 54-hole medal-play tournament to be completed next Sunday, Sept. 28.

Don Thompson, with a 96 for 27 holes, holds the half-way lead. He was pressed by Emil Frank (99) and N. E. Gray (100). Tom Harrison and Roy Johnston followed with 103's. Other 27-hole scores:

Paul DeKlotz, Bill Blyth, Gene Chadwell, Clyde Cesna, Bert Ehrmann, Rolly Klorer, Bob Jones, Bill Gibson, Charley Pierce, Bill Sheehy.

Clyde Bailey, Don Durfee.

The Swarthby Brockton, Mass., slugger, tapering off after finishing his peak in mid-week, finished work at Grossinger, N. Y., in the converted airplane hangar.

Rocky has been trained for a punishing battle against a know-nothing oldster who knows all the tricks. Although his battle plans remain secreted under manager Al Weill's flashy beret and Trainer Charlie Goldman's black derby, you can be sure he will try to pressure Jersey Joe and beat him, despite the champ's bound weight advantage. That was the strategy against Joe Louis, another old gaffer, and it worked that time.

Marciano boxed 99 rounds preparing for the most important night of his career. He has been in almost continuous training for months with only a brief layoff after his two-round knockout of Harry Matthews. Rocky will weigh about 187 to Walcott's 197 pounds.

Chadwick Sets New Record For Catalina Channel Swim

By FRANK FURILLO
SAN PEDRO, Calif. (INS) — Florence Chadwick, swimming as if jet-propelled, smashed all existing records Sunday in crossing the treacherous Catalina Channel in 13 hours, 47 minutes and 32.8 seconds.

The husky, dark-haired Miss Chadwick, twice-conqueror of the English Channel, eclipsed by more than two hours the record set by George Young in 1927, who negotiated the 21-mile stretch 25 years ago in 15 hours, 48 minutes and 35 seconds.

It was Miss Chadwick's second attempt. The San Diego mermaid was pulled out of the water one mile from shore last July 4 after she had been in the water 15 hours and 51 minutes.

She was hailed by hundreds of persons who had waited the night through for her arrival at Point Vicente.

Miss Chadwick said: "I think I extended myself more on this swim because of the fact I wanted the record so badly. I compare it to my first crossing of the English Channel, the highlight of my career. That's all for me this year in the channel swimming department."

"But wait until 1953. Then I'm going to try the Straits of Gibraltar, the Dardanelles, and then I'd like to try the Catalina Channel again—this time from the mainland to Catalina."

Florence encountered her most serious difficulties not from the elements but from over-zealous friends and over-friendly fish, one of which climbed right into Flo's bathing suit.

Blue and temporarily paralyzed from the cold and exertion, she was rescued by a huge grin before being bundled in a blanket and taken to San Pedro Community Hospital.

The first thing Florence asked when she was pulled ashore was: "What was my time?"

When told she had set a new record, the grin increased.

TV Fans Won't See Title Go

NEW YORK (AP) — The heavyweight title fight between Champion Jersey Joe Walcott and unbeaten Rocky Marciano in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium, Tuesday night completely overshadowed the remainder of this week's national boxing card.

Television fans, however, will have to wait for their regular Wednesday and Friday night shows to see ring action, for the Walcott-Marciano scrap will not be for home consumption. The title bout will be televised only into some 50 theaters in 31 cities.

Charlie Reilly, St. Louis, and Fabella Chavez, Los Angeles, are off in Wednesday's TV show from Washington. The featherweights will go 10 or less rounds.

Friday's TV show at St. Nicholas Arena in New York matches two undefeated middleweights, Willie Troy, originally from Washington, and Randy Sandy of New York's Harlem section.

Kansas City Wins Association Playoff

MILWAUKEE (INS) — The Kansas City Blues staved off a ninth inning rally Sunday to whip the Milwaukee Brewers, 8-7, and win the right to represent the American Association in the Little World Series.

The Blues piled up an early lead on three home runs. Bill Renna hit for the circuit with two aboard and Don Bollweg poled a four-run homer with one man on base. The last homer was clouted by Bill Skowron.

Milwaukee came within a run of tying the game in the ninth inning on a five-run outburst.

Eddie Erazt limited the Brewers to two runs and six hits for the first eight innings, but was driven to the showers in the ninth. Erazt was relieved by Dave Jolly, who managed to quell the rally and end the game.

The Blues will face the winner of the Montreal-Rochester International League playoffs in the Little World Series.

Demaret Victor In Celebrities Tourney

WASHINGTON (AP) — Care-free Jimmy Demaret, who didn't play a single practice round in getting ready for the National celebrities tournament, won it Sunday with a 71 for a four-under-par 282.

Demaret had to par the last hole to beat out three other golfers at 283, Bryon Nelson, Ted Kroll and Sam Snead. But the 42-year-old playboy in the canary colored slacks calmy did it.

Nelson, who was only a stroke behind Saturday, slipped to a 73 in winding up with a 283.

camp with his heavy thumping. The old boy looked better than he did getting ready for Eazy Charles last June. How his legs will stand up under steady pressure is the big question.

Co-promoters Jim Norris and Herman Taylor reported "over $300,000" already in the till from advance sales with many offices still not reporting. With a break from the weatherman, the gate may climb over the expected $500,000 people and $500,000 at $40 tops. The promoters will put on sale 15,000 general admission tickets at $5 each at 5:00 p.m. the afternoon of the fight.

With no radio and television and only theater TV in some 50 theaters in 31 cities of a coast-to-coast network, there has been a booming sale from out-of-town. Special trains and planes will unload customers by the hundreds in the final pre-fight days.

Marciano was due to drive into town today but Walcott planned to come in from Atlantic City the morning of the fight. He will set up headquarters in his home town of Camden, N. J.

There is a wishing well puzzle game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to open up your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 8 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 8, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Saturday's Answer

TWINS ARE JUST ALIKE EVEN TO FINGER PRINTS

AP Newsfeatures

FINGERPRINTS can't separate these twins. David and Walter Messingale, 21, are identical twins and even their fingerprints have the same pattern. They are ROTC students at Texas Tech. Experts have to count the ridges in the fingerprints to tell them apart. They say their prints are nearer alike than any on record. That is David on the left—or maybe it's Walter.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

AXYDLBAAXK
WLONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
